

WEEKLY HOME STUDY PACKAGE - WEEK 1 (05/07/21 – 09/07/21)

Year 10 Basic Technology Solution

Total: 10 Marks

1) What is a combination square?

A combination square is a tool used for multiple purposes in woodworking. (1 Mark)

2) What is a sliding bevel?

A sliding bevel is a tool which can be set to different angles to aid marking out. (1 Mark)

3) What are sash cramps?

Sash clamps are used to clamp work together when it is glued. _____. (1 Mark)

4) What is a coping saw?

Coping saws are perfect for cutting complex patterns on wood. _____. (1 Mark)

5) State three uses of the combination square?

✚ levelling, as a try square,

✚ It can also be used as a saw guide

(2 Mark)

6) Identify the use of a sliding bevel?

A sliding bevel is a tool which can be set to different angles to aid marking out (1 Mark)

7) Differentiate between combination square and sliding bevel?

A combination square is a tool used for multiple purposes in woodworking whereas A sliding bevel is a tool which can be set to different angles to aid marking out (1 marks)

8) What is sash cramp used for?

Sash clamps are used to clamp work together when it is glued (1 Mark)

9) What are coping saws used for?

Coping saws are perfect for cutting complex patterns on wood. . (1 Mark)